

To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to give my personal and professional recommendation for John Gilleland of Marsh Insurance for his exemplary service with my company. Mr. Gilleland was a pleasure to work with in several respects.

Firstly, he was knowledgeable and well versed in the daunting, often complex, task of walking a company through the various procedures of procuring business insurance. Secondly, and perhaps most importantly, John did what he said he was going to do and made the whole process easy by adding a personal touch to it. In business trust is paramount. John's approach invokes trust, which ultimately makes the transaction the best it can be.

In this day an age it's great to work with someone who can personalize a transaction and make a great experience out of it, all the while executing the business at hand flawlessly.
